Am FuÙe des Bergs Uummannaq kampfen vier Cybergoth-Teenager gegen ihre Depression. Die Wasserverschmutzung breitet sich im Dorf weiter aus und ein Cybergoth wacht auf einem Krankenhausbett auf. Der Film ist ein visuelles Gedicht, erzahlt und geschrieben von einer Gruppe junger Inuit-Frauen, die iber ihre Selbstmordversuche und die Trennung von ihren Familien nachdenken. Die Cybergoths erinnern uns an eine Zeit nach der Apokalypse oder auch die apokalyptischen Qualitaten der Gegenwart. Eine fragile Realitat, in der die nationale, kommunale, kologische und mentale Stabilitat gefahrdet ist.

Four cybergoth teenagers fight depression at the foot of Uummannaq Mountain. The contamination of the water is spreading through the town and a cybergoth guards over a hospital bed. The film is a visual poem, written and told by a group of young Inuit women, who reflect on suicide attempts and separation from their families. The cybergoths remind us of a time after the apocalypse and the apocalyptic qualities of the present. A fragile reality, in which national, communal, ecological and mental stability is at risk.

JONATHAN OMER MIZRAHI was born in Tel Aviv in 1993. Studies at the KHM with a focus on experimental film, installation and performance from 2014.
